I turn Figma designs into pixel-perfect, fully responsive Webflow builds. Four years of agency and freelance work have taught me to work in lockstep with designers, copywriters, and other developers rather than in isolation, planning implementation together before a single section is built. I take ownership from scoping through launch, treat feedback as a tool rather than a critique, and stay disciplined about deadlines and agreements. My core stack is Client-First, GSAP for motion and interaction, and Finsweet for advanced CMS functionality. I also optimize for page speed as standard practice and have working knowledge of React, which I use to extend beyond what visual builders can do.

EXPERIENCE

Webflow Developer

Aug 2023 - Present

Better Mistakes · Remote

- Implemented UI designs from Figma into Webflow using Client-First conventions across 15+ production sites, QA-testing every build across breakpoints and devices before launch.
- Planned implementation directly with designers pre-built to catch responsiveness and interaction issues early, rather than fixing them after the fact.
- Coordinated with copywriters, photographers/videographers, and SEO contributors to align content and assets with final builds.
- Built custom GSAP animations and scroll interactions to bring typography, proportion, and motion details to life across marketing sites.
- Extended Webflow with Finsweet attributes for CMS filtering and dynamic sorting, handling functionality beyond native capabilities.
- Own ongoing maintenance and fixes for live client sites, plus page-speed optimization as a standard QA step.
- Manage multiple concurrent projects independently, covering architecture, responsive layout, and CMS setup, while keeping communication clear with clients and teammates.
